

Hollywood - Plentywood Style.

Casablanca, the classic 1940's film, starring Bogart and Bergman was featured at the Orpheum Theater. The red carpet was laid out for the Stars of Plentywood.

EVENTS

Plentywood Education and Alumni Foundation

Winner of three Academy Awards, including Best Picture, Casablanca marked 60 years as a beloved favorite and is America's most popular movie - and rightly so.

The movie arrived safely directly from the vault at Warner Brothers. Rick Darvis, President of the Plentywood Education & Alumni Foundation and wife Laura, owner of Laura Belle's, posed for a photo session. Their images were used for advertising designed as vintage movie posters, compliments of Heil Photographics, Medicine Lake, MT.

To add a little atmosphere, Laura Belle's was converted to Rick's Cafe' Americana, and served as a quaint gathering place to socialize and enjoy wine and fancy hors d' oeuvres before venturing to the 90 year old Orpheum Theater to view the movie.

Before the movie began, Kordelia French, Executive Director, gave a brief presentation thanking members for their support. Jean Tange and Todd Johnson re-enacted a scene from the movie on the theater stage, portraying Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman. Board members were recognized and joined the performers under the lights.

During intermission, door prizes with the theme were awarded.

The evening brought an awareness to the community about the newly formed foundation.

Kordelia thanked everyone for their support of the Foundation's 'debut' event reminding those who attended that "Hollywood has its share of stars but you are, indeed the Stars of Plentywood!"

"I think this is the beginning of a beautiful friendship"

